DESIGNATIONS

Our expectations of when and where we will work are changing as never before. Will the workplace reset be a return to the office we left? Is the work from home model here to stay for many people? Does the emerging hybrid model, blending work from home with an in office schedule, represent the best of both worlds for the majority of employees and employers? Beyond the physicality of the workplace, employees are also looking for greater consideration, inclusion and connection to the companies they work for.

So the great experiment is on, and it is safe to say that no one has a clear answer as to when or how it will all shake out. What is most likely, is that the one-size-fits-all workplace, which has defined the status quo for generations, is coming to an end. In the pages that follow, we are sharing vignettes of three recently completed showrooms in three very different but influential metropolitan centers: Toronto, New York and Miami. Each of these cities is unique, with a vibrant population and a strong design voice. The blending of products and environment in each showroom demonstrates an array of solutions that we hope will inspire your own destination in these changing times.
